PRESS RELEASE FROM THE PREMIER, MR. DUNSTAN.

OPEN AIR RESTAURANTS.

28.7.73

A Government sponsored booklet aimed at encouraging open air restaurant development in South Australia was released by the Premier, Mr. Dunstan, today.

Mr. Dunstan, who is also Tourism Minister, said he believed open air restaurants were a positive tourist attraction and would also improve the life of the State's cities for other residents.

In a foreword in the booklet which concentrates on the metropolitan area, Mr. Dunstan says Adelaide is the only Australian capital with a mediterranean climate.

The Government's most recent amendments to the Licensing Act allow publicans and restauranteurs to take advantage of this for open air restaurants.

The pamphlet sets out guidelines around which such development could occur.

Photographs and sketches illustrate open air restaurant development elsewhere, and possible projects for South Australia.

Copies are being sent to all holders of publicans', limited publicans' and restaurant licences, and to the Mayors and Town Clerks and local authorities in South Australia.
